KOD

Frank Haynes was our KOD today. Frank talked about his family roots. He became interested in genealogy when he was 21 years old and has continued to take advantage of the increasing opportunities to research with technology available today.

Frank's heritage goes back to England, Ireland, Germany and 1% Native American. Family roots go back to Virginia. Frank's relatives were involved in making "white lightning" with corn they grew and sold. Frank's great-grandfather, grandfather and father were all doctors.

Our program today was presented by the above ladies from the Salem Library. Salem City Librarian Sarah Strahl presented an overview of the library collection with an eye on future plans to increase the Spanish offerings. Emily Byers talked about some of the requirements of maintaining the various aspects of a comprehensive library today—things like obtaining and selecting new books and how often should technology or medical books be replaced and updated. A surprising fact...only about 25% of city residents use the Salem Library and some 40% do not continue to use the library after getting their library card.
