Meet YOUR Law Firm

Our program on July 13th was presented by Tequisha Myles, Supervising Attorney of the Consumer Advocacy Unit for the Legal Aid Society of Palm Beach County.

The Consumer Advocacy Unit provides legal advice and representation to consumers in Palm Beach County regarding their rights under federal and state law.

Consumer protection laws are federal and state statutes governing sales and credit practices involving consumer goods. Such statutes prohibit and regulate deceptive or unconscionable advertising and sales practices, credit financing and reporting, debt collection, harassment, and other aspects of consumer transactions. Some examples of consumer law issues include: Automobile Purchases, Auto and Home Repair fraud, Wage and Account Garnishments, Credit Card fraud/harassment, Debt Collection, Foreclosure, Financial Exploitation (Elderly, Disabled & Children) and Bankruptcy Advice. For more information, go to www.legalaidpbc.org.

Television That Educates, Inspires and Engages

Our program on July 20th was presented by Joyce Belloise, the Managing Director of Content for South Florida PBS. PBS is a membership organization that, with its member stations, serves the American public with programming and services of the highest quality, using media to educate, inspire, entertain and express the diversity of perspectives. PBS empowers individuals to achieve their potential and strengthens the social, democratic and cultural health of the U.S.

PBS offers programming that expands the minds of children, documentaries that open up new worlds, non-commercialized news programs that keep citizens informed on world events and cultures and programs that expose America to the worlds of music, theater, dance and art. It is a multi-platform media organization that serves Americans through television, mobile devices, the web, in the classroom, and more.

As America's largest classroom, PBS is available to all of America's children – including those who can't attend preschool – and offers educational media that help prepare children for success in school. PBS is the No. 1 source of media content for preschool teachers and a leading place parents turn to for preschool video online, with content proven to improve critical literacy skills in young children. Taking Shape.....

Our next project that will benefit hundreds of kids is TAKING SHAPE! We started working on the Reading Oasis at Orchard View Elementary. On Wednesday afternoon, July 20th, Scott Youngberg, Peggy Kelleher, Carlene Laseter and new member Bob Colvin painted the base coats for the island theme. The school's art teacher, Stacy Baldassarri, added the design work and final touches. Once completed, we can then assemble the furniture and load all the books. The Grand Opening is scheduled for September 14th.

Shelley Vana Running For Property Appraiser

Our program on July 27 was presented by Shelley Vana, who is running for Palm Beach County Property Appraiser.

Shelley Vana, starting as a teacher, she earned the trust of her peers to become President and CEO of the Palm Beach County Classroom Teachers Association.

Elected to the Florida House of Representatives in 2002, Shelley served three terms working on a wide variety of legislation that benefited Palm Beach County, including many bills that regulated Property Appraisers throughout Florida. As a Palm Beach County Commissioner, Shelley was twice elected Chair/Mayor, taking on tough issues and producing real results. With a true love for her community, Shelley Vana wants to lead the Property Appraiser's Office with the determination and resolve to fairly serve all the citizens and businesses of Palm Beach County. DID YOU KNOW?

Caring Corner

Your support is needed!
Every year at the Annual District convention, the District Treasurer and his/her partner have sought creative ways to raise money for our Service Leadership Programs.

When you visit this year's Caring Corner, you'll have the opportunity to purchase raffle tickets for fabulous gift baskets, 50/50 raffles, live auctions, and something we haven't had in many years - holiday crafts and greeting cards. The greeting cards will be made with art submitted by our SLP members from the Holiday Art Contest, and many of the holiday crafts will be provided by our SLP members as well. Each Kiwanis club in the Florida District is asked to contribute an item for their division's gift basket or donate $200 to the Caring Corner project.

Where do my contributions go? Circle K, Key Club, Aktion Club, Builders Club, K-Kids are the pride and joy of Kiwanis. These groups define what sets us apart from other community service organizations. Why? Leadership. Kiwanis is committed to building and developing leaders who care about service; leaders who aspire to changing the world. Your donated funds support our efforts in the Florida District through the Florida Kiwanis Foundation, by providing grants and educational support to these groups.

Your support helps to strengthen the infrastructure that is in place to continue to develop leaders from adults with developmental challenges in Aktion Club and young Elementary students in K-Kids all the way up to CKI who are young adults in college.

Checks can be made out to: Florida Kiwanis Foundation.

PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENT

"How To Wash The Cat"

1. Thoroughly clean the toilet.
2. Add the required amount of shampoo to the toilet water.
3. Obtain the cat and carry him to the bathroom.
4. In one smooth movement, put the cat in the toilet and close both lids (you may need to stand on the lid so that he cannot escape).
CAUTION: Do not get any part of your body too close to the edge, as his paws will be reaching out for anything he can find.
5. Flush the toilet three or four times. This provides a "power wash and rinse" which I have found to be quite effective.
6. Have someone open the door to the outside and ensure that there are no people between the toilet and the outside door.
7. Stand behind the toilet as far as you can, and quickly lift both lids.
8. The now-clean cat will rocket out of the toilet, and run outside where he will dry himself.

The Mediterranean Diet

(Part 2)

How to make the change

If you're feeling daunted by the thought of changing your eating habits to a Mediterranean diet, here are some suggestions to get you started:

Eat lots of vegetables. Try a simple plate of sliced tomatoes drizzled with olive oil and crumbled feta cheese, or load your thin crust pizza with peppers and mushrooms instead of sausage and pepperoni. Salads, soups, and crudité platters are also great ways to load up on vegetables.

Change the way you think about meat. If you eat red meat, have smaller amounts and opt for "organic, grass-fed" whenever possible to avoid the antibiotics, hormones and GMO feed associated with industrially raised meat. Put small strips of organic, free-range chicken on your salad, or add small amounts of meat to a whole-wheat pasta dish.

Always eat breakfast. Fruits, whole grains, and other fiber-rich foods are a great way to start your day, keeping you pleasantly full for hours.

Eat seafood twice a week. Fish such as tuna, salmon, herring, sablefish (black cod), and sardines are rich in Omega-3 fatty acids, and shellfish like mussels, oysters, and clams have similar benefits for brain and heart health.

Cook a vegetarian meal one night a week. If it's helpful, you can jump on the "Meatless Mondays" trend of foregoing meat on the first day of the week, or simply pick a day where you build meals around beans, whole grains, and vegetables. Once you get the hang of it, try two nights a week.

Use good fats. Extra-virgin olive oil, nuts, sunflower seeds, olives, and avocados are great sources of healthy fats for your daily meals.

Enjoy dairy products such as natural cheese, Greek or plain yogurt. Research shows that eating whole-milk dairy products is linked to less body fat and lower levels of obesity. This may be because full-fat dairy makes you feel fuller, faster, and keeps you feeling satisfied for longer, thus helping you to eat less overall. Choose organic or raw milk products if possible.

For dessert, eat fresh fruit. Instead of ice cream, cake or other baked goods, opt for strawberries, fresh figs, grapes, or apples.

"Old" is When.....

... you start lying about your children's ages.

... you spot that first gray hair...on your kid.

... you still got it, but don't know what to do with it.

... you see a cute guy and start to calculate if you could be his mom.

... you keep some people's numbers just so you know not to answer.

... work is a lot of fun, and fun is a lot of work.

... you don't think about dying because it's the last thing you want to do.

... you read the obituary to check on your friends.

... your investment in health insurance has paid off.

A child asked his father, "How were people born?" So his father said, "Adam and Eve made babies, then their babies became adults and made babies, and so on." The child then went to his mother, asked her the same question and she told him, "We were monkeys then we evolved to become like we are now." The child ran back to his father and said, "You lied to me!" His father replied, "No, your mom was talking about her side of the family."

Here Comes "Little Johnny"

Little April was not the best student in Sunday school.

Usually she slept through the class.

One day the teacher called on her while she was napping, "Tell me, April, who created the universe?"

When April didn't stir, little Johnny, a boy seated in the chair behind her, took a pin and jabbed her in the rear.

"GOD ALMIGHTY!" shouted April and the teacher said, "Very good" and April fell back asleep.

A while later the teacher asked April, "Who is our Lord and Saviour," But, April didn't even stir from her slumber.

Once again, Johnny came to the rescue and stuck her again.

"JESUS CHRIST!" shouted April and the teacher said, "very good," and April fell back to sleep.

Then the teacher asked April a third question.

"What did Eve say to Adam after she had her twenty-third child?"

And again, Johnny jabbed her with the pin.

This time April jumped up and shouted, "IF YOU STICK THAT FG THING IN ME ONE MORE TIME, I'LL BREAK IT IN HALF AND STICK IT UP YOUR ARSE!"

The Teacher fainted.

International President's Corner

Susan Petrisin, President of Kiwanis International

KIDS NEED US

I am proud of Kiwanis. I get excited to tell people what Kiwanis is, but more importantly, what Kiwanis does for children in communities around the world. I am eager to see the new Kiwanis brand campaign help expand the Kiwanis movement.

The campaign, which was introduced at the Kiwanis International convention in Toronto, has two goals: to make it abundantly clear that Kiwanis helps kids and to make it abundantly clear that we have fun.

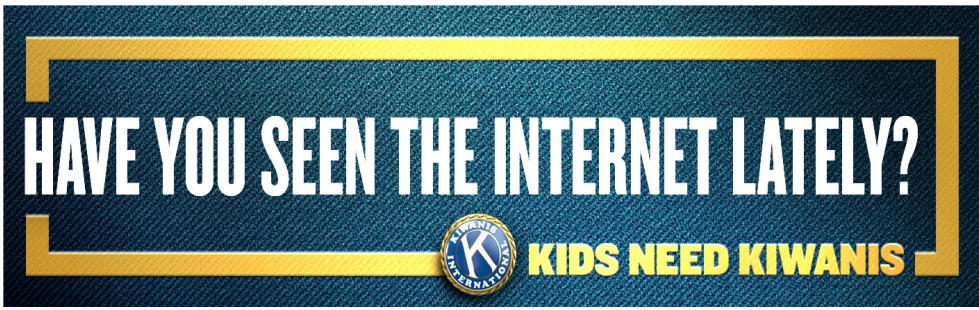

We have work to do. When we conducted scientific research, we learned some startling facts about what people think about Kiwanis. It was a reality check. Qualitative research further showed that many perceive Kiwanis as an organization of old men who eat lunch together. What's wrong with that picture?

But there is good news. In our research, we asked what would influence someone to join Kiwanis. Their top influences were: belief in the organization's mission; a mission that is local and global and impacts things like disease and poverty; and a mission that helps children reach their full potential. That's Kiwanis! That's what we do.

We designed a branding campaign to help people see the connection between Kiwanis and the work we do to serve children. We created "Kids Need Kiwanis."

The Kids Need Kiwanis campaign includes video, TV and radio commercials and public service announcements, and ads for newspaper, magazines and the Internet. We are making all these elements available to you and your club. You can download them at kiwanis.org/brand.

But a newspaper ad or TV commercial isn't why people join Kiwanis. People join Kiwanis because they are invited by a family member, a friend or a colleague. It's up to you to invite someone to your next meeting or service project. Let them see we aren't a group of old men having lunch. Kids all over the world are waiting for more Kiwanians to join Kiwanis' massive force for positive change. Kids need Kiwanis.
