Helping Kids Get To & Succeed In College

Our program on July 24th was presented by Mark Sauer, the Founder of Bound For College. A high school diploma is no longer enough for students to build a successful, rewarding career in this day and age. While a necessary stepping stone, today's students must go beyond a high school diploma and pursue a college education in order to truly succeed. Unfortunately for many young people, a lack of academic and emotional support at home coupled with challenging financial circumstances prevents them attending a post-secondary institution.

BOUND FOR COLLEGE

Students in Bound For College (formerly Delray Students First) programs are provided with the skills and resources to successfully graduate from high school, gain acceptances to first rate universities and attain scholarships. Bound For College provides underserved students with intense college prep tutoring, mental health counseling and health and wellness coaching in order to maximize their true potential and set them up for a lifetime of success. Programs include ACT/SAT Tutoring, College Tours, College Prep, Family Strengthening, Summer enrichment and Career Exploration. For more information, go to <https://weareboundforcollege.org/>

Delray Ranked as a Top City for Small Biz

Our program on July 10th was presented by Elizabeth Burrows, the Economic Development Manager for the City of Delray Beach. According to the Verizon Business report, smaller cities can be an attractive option for small business owners looking for an industrious region to grow, while avoiding the chaos and competition of large cities. Unlike many of its larger counterparts, Delray Beach has strategically focused on small business growth as part of its overall economic development strategy, as more than 93% of its companies are small businesses employing 30 or fewer people.

OED is a joint office of the City of Delray Beach and the Delray Beach CRA offering site selection and relocation assistance; business grant and incentive opportunities; connections to community resources; small business and entrepreneurial support; workforce development; and business navigator services. Their mission is to drive and inspire the growth of a diverse, vibrant, entrepreneurial economy for all. To reach them, call (561) 243-7009.

Bringing Magic to Specially Enabled Children

Our program on July 31st was presented by Sandra Seiden, the Florida State Director of Personal Ponies.

Personal Ponies Ltd., Inc. is part of a unique national non-profit charity dedicated to providing pony visits to hospitals, schools with exceptional education programs, nursing homes, veteran hospitals, and learning centers such as EASTER SEALS AND ARC- anywhere their ponies special touch is needed. Personal Ponies also provides site "farm" visits to groups such as JARC and Gold Coast Down Syndrome Association which enables them to spend special "Therapeutic Pony Time".

When Sandra saw what being around miniature ponies did for her special needs son, she knew she had to share the ponies with other children who faced the same challenges. "Very often, a child with special needs doesn't have a best friend. The ponies do not judge or laugh; they seem to understand and a trusting friendship develops. Personal Ponies promotes an "I CAN" attitude by allowing the child to interact through tasks such as grooming, handling, stall maintenance and feeding the pony. It is our goal this "I CAN" attitude will carry over to school, family and social settings."

Keys to a heart-healthy diet (Part 3)

Focus on high-fiber food

A diet high in fiber can lower "bad" cholesterol and provide nutrients that help protect against heart disease. As an added bonus, it may also help you to lose weight. Since fiber stays in the stomach longer than other foods, the feeling of fullness will stay with you much longer, helping you eat less. Fiber also moves fat through your digestive system quicker so less of it is absorbed. And when you fill up on fiber, you'll also have more energy for exercising.

Insoluble fiber is found in whole grains, wheat cereals, and vegetables such as carrots, celery, and tomatoes.

Soluble fiber sources include barley, oatmeal, beans, nuts, and fruits such as apples, berries, citrus fruits, and pears.

Answering Machine Messages

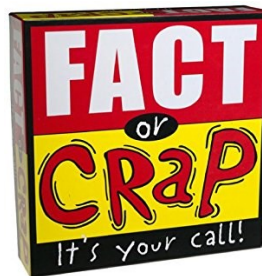

... Hi. Now you say something.

... Hi, I'm not home right now but my answering machine is, so you can talk to it instead. Wait for the beep.

... You know what I hate about answering machine messages?

They go on and on, wasting your time. I mean, all they really need to say is, "We aren't in, leave a message." That's why I've decided to keep mine simple and short. I pledge to you, dearest caller, that you will never have to suffer through another long answering machine message when you call me...

Reeve Bright's 4th of July Program - Facts About the Declaration

DID YOU KNOW?

On July 4th, 1776 the Continental Congress adopted the Declaration of Independence, which announced that the 13 colonies were independent sovereign states and not a part of the British Empire any longer. Instead, these 13 states were a new nation called the United States of America. The Declaration of Independence was adopted more than a year after the Revolutionary War had begun. The war started because the British Empire tried to impose taxes on the colonies to pay off their debts and because of disagreement as to the British Parliament's authority in the colonies. The Declaration of Independence formally declared the independence of the United States of America. This historical document now sits at the National Archives in Washington, D.C.

Interesting Declaration of Independence Facts:

July 2, 1776 is the day that the Continental Congress actually voted for independence. John Adams, in his writings, even noted that July 2 would be remembered in the annals of American history and would be marked with fireworks and celebrations. The written Declaration of Independence was dated July 4 but wasn't actually signed by the delegates until August 2. John Hancock was the first and only person to sign the Declaration on July 4, 1776. Fifty-six delegates eventually signed the document, although all were not present on that day in August. The names of the signers were released publicly in early 1777. So that famous painting showing the signing of the Declaration on July 4, 1776, is a bit of an exaggeration.

Thomas Jefferson is considered by many to be the author of this important document but he was a member of five-person committee consisting of Benjamin Franklin, Roger Sherman, Robert Livingston, John Adams and himself.

Robert Livingston did not sign the Declaration of Independence even though he contributed to its creation. He didn't agree with the timing of declaring independence.

The Declaration of Independence was signed by 56 men representing 13 colonies.

8 of the 56 men who signed the Declaration of Independence were from Britain.

The Declaration suffered from a lack of early respect. The Declaration (and celebrating its signing) was stuck in a feud between the Federalists (of John Adams) and the Republicans (of Thomas Jefferson). The Declaration and its anniversary day weren't widely celebrated until the Federalists faded away from the political scene after 1812.

After the adoption of the Declaration of Independence, the "Committee of Five"—Thomas Jefferson, John Adams, Benjamin Franklin, Roger Sherman and Robert R. Livingston—was charged with overseeing the reproduction of the approved text. This was completed at the shop of Philadelphia printer John Dunlap. On July 5, Dunlap's copies were dispatched across the 13 colonies to newspapers, local officials and the commanders of the Continental troops. These rare documents, known as "Dunlap broadsides," predate the engrossed version signed by the delegates. Of the hundreds thought to have been printed on the night of July 4, only 26 copies survive. Most are held in museum and library collections, but three are privately owned.

Who Signed and In What Order? John Hancock signed first, with a large hand right in the middle because he was the President of the Congress. The others signed by state delegation, beginning in the upper right in one column, and then proceeding in five other columns, arranged from the northernmost state (New Hampshire) to the southernmost (Georgia).

George Washington did not sign the Declaration of Independence because in July 1776 he was in New York preparing to defend Manhattan against the British.

New delegates joining the Congress were also allowed to sign. Eight men signed the Declaration who did not take seats in Congress until after July 4: Matthew Thornton, William Williams, Benjamin Rush, George Clymer, James Smith, George Taylor, George Ross, and Charles Carroll of Carrollton. Matthew Thornton did not take a seat in Congress until November. By the time that he signed it, there wasn't any space for his name next to the other New Hampshire delegates, so he placed his signature at the end of the document.

AND....."If you're sitting in a bar this afternoon, like Jay and his friends will be doing.....and Country singer Zac Brown of the Zac Brown Band comes in, we hope that you will buy him a "Knee-Deep" drink, as he is 41 years old today.

Here Comes "Little Johnny"

Little Johnny was in class and the teacher announced that they were going to try something different to help everyone get to know each other a little better, and to help with their spelling.

She explained, "I want you to stand up and give us the occupation of your father, spell it, and say one thing he would give us all if he was here today."

The first student raised her hand to volunteer. "Marcy," the teacher said. "You may go first." Marcy replied, "My father is a banker. B-A-N-K-E-R and if he was here today, he would give us all a shiny new penny." The teacher said, "Very nice, Marcy, who wants to go next?"

Kevin stood up and announced, "My father is a baker. B-A-K-E-R and if he was here today, he would give us all a freshly-baked cookie." "Very good," the teacher told Kevin.

Jeff was next, and he said, "My father is an accountant. A-K, no wait, A-C-K, no..." Before he could attempt to spell it once more, the teacher cut him off and told him to sit back down and to think about it for a while. When he thought he knew how to spell it, he could stand back up and try again.

Little Johnny raised his hand in excitement hoping to be acknowledged by the teacher. The teacher called on little Johnny to go next.

Johnny said, "My father is a bookie. B-O-O-K-I-E and if he was here today, he would give us all 20:1 odds Jeff will never be able to spell "accountant."

1) Fact - If in the cooking process the wine is reduced to "dry" (no liquid remains, just a syrupy glaze), the alcohol has evaporated.

2) Crap - she was created in 1921 to solve a mail crisis. People were mailing a fictitious kitchen expert after a Gold Medal Flour promotion. Crocker came from a recently retired director of the company, and Betty was used because it sounded "friendly".

3) Fact - Built in for the 1893 Worlds Fair by George W. Ferris. Fair organizers wanted to outshine the Eiffel Tower, which had been revealed at the Worlds Fair four years earlier. The wheel was later abandoned, then demolished in 1906.

4) Fact - this rule is very strongly enforced. No amount of money will be accepted for the box alone. It must contain a Tiffany & Co. article that has been sold and for which Tiffany & Co store is responsible.

5) Fact - The game was never released under any name other than Twister but it was called Pretzel as it was designed and sold. In 1966 it came out and was the first game in history to use the human body as a full-fledged playing piece.

Governor's Message

by Steve LeBlanc, Florida Kiwanis Governor

With this being the penultimate edition of the Governor's Message for the 2018-19 Kiwanis year, one primary question comes to mind...Where did the time go? It seems like only last week we were traveling the District to visit with all of you at your respective DCMs celebrating your club's accomplishments.

When we last visited through this message, it was Mother's Day. Now, we have the Fourth of July firmly in the rearview mirror! Since that time, we have participated in several events across the district including division council meetings, Key Club and CKI events and our own club activities. A visit to Div. 19 in May allowed us to celebrate all that the division does for students through scholarship awards and to visit one of the largest new club charters of the previous year (Gateway - Fort Myers). Our travels then took us to the June BOD meeting for FL Key Club in Orlando. These meetings are an opportunity to assess the new LTGs and Executive Officers as they begin their year-long journey in learning valuable leadership skills. It is truly inspiring! From there, we prepared for and then attended the Kiwanis International Convention at Walt Disney World Resort in Orlando, FL. Thousands of Kiwanians from around the world gathered in our home district to celebrate the year and prepare for the future...and have some fun while doing it! The ICON event was a true success with excellent keynote speakers, well attended and interesting workshops and a great time connecting with friends from all over the world.

With regard to the growth of the Florida Kiwanis family, hosting the ICON had the added benefit of a second visit from the Eye of the Tiger new club building team. In three days before convention, new clubs were successfully set up in Sebring, FL and Auburndale, FL. Many thanks to the FL Kiwanians, led by new club All-Star Joe Meyer and Div. 15 LTG Ray Kriegbaum who were instrumental in this venture becoming a reality. This effort brings the current new club total to eight (8) with three others currently in the works. We look forward to giving a complete membership growth report to the district at the upcoming Florida District Convention in August.

As we turn our focus toward the August convention, it is time to begin the transfer of duties in the Governor's office to Allen Yergovich and Roger Neves. Chris & I are so proud to be serving the FL District alongside such wonderful and genuine human beings as Allen & Roger and we pledge our total support to their endeavors in the coming year. Also, Vice Governor Mary Lynn Desjarlais is planning a wonderful Caring Corner for this year's convention and she needs the support of all clubs and members in our annual campaign for SLP support through the Florida Kiwanis Foundation. If you have not already registered for convention and made your hotel reservations, one question comes to mind...What are you waiting for? Our annual family reunion is sure to be everything we want it to be and more. Please come and join us at the Omni International hotel in Orlando. We can't wait to see you!!
