Providing Shoes & More to Children In Need

Our program on June 21st was presented by Madalyn Chusid, the Executive Director of In Jacob's Shoes.

The mission of In Jacob's Shoes® is to provide new and gently used shoes, socks, backpacks, school supplies, and athletic gear to children in need living in South Florida. Since 2009, In Jacob's Shoes® has provided over 212,603 pairs of new and refurbished shoes, 46,565 pairs of socks, and 10,943 backpacks complete with school supplies for children in need living in Broward, Palm Beach, and Miami-Dade Counties. These children live in poverty, are homeless, or live in shelters. Some live in foster care or have "aged-out" of foster care. All are in need. They purchase thousands of pairs of new shoes each year and also receive in-kind donations of new and gently worn shoes from the community, businesses, schools and volunteers. Volunteers assist in collecting, sorting, cleaning and restoring the gently worn shoes to pristine condition.

The Jacob S. Zweig Foundation, Inc. was formed in honor of the life of Jacob S. Zweig who was tragically killed at the age of seventeen. To honor Jacob's legacy, his family and friends wanted to support local organizations and continue Jacob's way of treating others with dignity and inclusion. Formed in 2009, the Foundation, known as In Jacob's Shoes®. For more information, go to <https://injacobsshoes.org>

Helping People and Building Bridges

Our program on June 28th was presented by Ariana Ciancio and Yazmin

Salguero, Service Population Advocates for the Delray Beach Police Department.

Ciancio and Salguero are responsible for assisting the Police Department with its unique and extensive service population, such as the City's recovery community, homeless residents, and individuals with behavioral health issues.

Some examples of their work include helping individuals who overdose on drugs, people searching for a detox or recovery program, or finding beds for homeless people. Ciancio is discovering that finding help for everyone in need is a challenge because Palm Beach County has a limited supply of available beds for those in emergency situations or people searching for a detox or recovery program. |

Their message to those in need — and to everyone else — is: "We're the advocates from the Delray Beach Police Department and we're here to help you."

June 8th Meeting "Finnegans": We were all happy to see our guests tonight: Pam Davidson's grandson, Jill Arbetter's friend Karen and her husband Ed. Ezra Krieg was very happy that soccer star Lionell Messi will be joining the Inter Miami team. Bob Hayes's nephew is getting a full ride college baseball scholarship. Pam Davidson put in for Joel being in Chicago (Whoops!). Bill Morse had a dollar from Peggy Kelleher for Damar Hamlin returning to the Buffalo Bills after cardiac arrest on field. Dave Freeburn is happy for Coco Gauff at the French Open. Jill Arbetter recently found out that her son received a Kiwanis Award back in 2008. Scott Youngberg was happy for FSU's softball team making it to the national championship game. Everyone else was "Just Happy".

June 14th Meeting: Today was "Flag Day", truly celebrated by Jay Alperin (See Pic page 10). Many members put in for the Miami Heat and Florida Panthers for their runs for the championship. Steve Rubin noted the Panther's only win came when he was at the game. Joel Davidson was happy to be back from Chicago and Pam Davidson had several dollars for trading an 18 for an 81 (Her grandson for Joel). Peggy Kelleher put in for her birthday and had a great trip to Buffalo and Cape Cod. A lot of members also wished Peggy a happy b'day. Carlene Laseter is sad that the Old Plumosa school is being torn down. Larry Schroeder celebrated 48 years of wedding bliss. Dave Freeburn and Rich Pollack wished a Happy Father's Day to all the Dads. Everyone else was "Just Happy".

June 21st Meeting: We were all happy to hear that Peggy Kelleher is doing fine after an accident on I-95. She appreciated the kind wishes and gave tribute to her Mom, who made air bags for cars. She also noted that on August 26th there will be a documentary on the 2005 Florida Gators football team. Ezra Krieg has to talk to his wife Marsha today, it's her birthday. Bob Hayes and Joel Davidson are fans of the Florida Marlins. Pam Davidson visited the Division 21 Kiwanis Clubs as Lt. Governor. Andie DeVoe is happy for the first day of summer and is happy she has a whole house generator, as her power went out yesterday. Dave Freeburn had a fun water meter story. Mark Scheinbaum enjoyed binge watching the Bad News Bears movies. Reeve Bright hit the 93 gallon mark in giving blood. Everyone else was "JH".

June 28th Meeting: Mark Scheinbaum is finishing his college students study and is going to Mexico for his daughter's college graduation. Jay Alperin is going on a 3 week vacation to Scotland, Greenland and Iceland (Hint: take a jacket). Joel Davidson was happy for the Marlins who continue to win. Andie DeVoe had a guest (Lynn) who might join us. Terrence Moore was happy to help raise lots of money for EJS by volunteering in the dunk tank. Bill Morse was happy this was his last day as President Pro-Tem. And yes, Reeve Bright is still vertical. Everyone else was "Just Happy". (A Special Shout-out to Carlene Laseter, who used her unique talents as a crack reporter to convey today's notes. THANK YOU!)

How many lawyers dose it take to change a light bulb?

3... 1 to climb the ladder, 1 to shake it, and 1 to sue the ladder company.

DID YOU KNOW?

One of the three Kiwanis causes is literacy and education. What are the other two?

Health and nutrition, and youth leadership development.

Each cause is important on its own, but these three causes, all together, form a continuum of impact. The work we do in each one helps provide a head start on success for the next — making sure kids are ready to learn and ready to lead.

There's a lot to love about being a Kiwanian

Puppies and babies and workouts and books are just a sampling of what Kiwanis members tell us they love right now. There's so much to love about this wonderful, diverse world, isn't there? So much to celebrate!

You probably love babies too. And puppies. (We know, we know: Not everyone loves a workout!) As you can guess, you already love a lot of things that are likely on other Kiwanians' lists as well.

We love a lot of things about Kiwanis as well. Because there's so much to love! We think Kiwanis is the best service organization in the world — and we bet you do too.

Here's a list of the top things we love about Kiwanis that we think you probably (or should) love too!

SERVICE

Let's face it: You're probably a Kiwanis member because, like us, you simply love helping others. It fuels your fire. Drives you to get up in the morning and head out to make someone's life better. Service is at the core of what you do — what we all do — to make children and families around the world happier, healthier, educated and loved.

EDUCATION

Learning is cool! At Kiwanis, we love to offer ways for Kiwanis family members to learn new things. Here are a few ways we enhance members' lives with learning experiences:

Kiwanis Amplify. A leadership program for those who want to amplify their ability to lead a team.

Key Leader. A weekend experience that empowers teens to become more caring and confident leaders.

Global Leadership Certificate. An online program for CKI and Key Club members who want to elevate their voices and build skills that will make them attractive to colleges/universities, trade schools and employers.

Conventions. From ideas for service to innovations in fundraising, you'll find it at the 2022 Kiwanis International Convention.

FELLOWSHIP

Fellowship can extend beyond your Kiwanis club. Think about all the people you've met and keep in touch with because of Kiwanis — including the people you've served or partnered with in your community.

Friendships can even extend beyond your division and your district. One great way to make friends is to attend conventions or help a Service Leadership Program member attend one. If you've been to a convention, you know that something magical happens: The world becomes smaller. A place like Nepal, for example, doesn't seem so distant or unfamiliar when you can say, "I have a friend in Nepal!"

Many things in life don't last forever. But the connections we make can last a lifetime. The service we do can improve the rest of a person's life. And the things we learn can change us for the better — forever. These are the things we love most about Kiwanis. We bet you do too!

PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENTManaging Stress and Its Symptoms

Try these tips for managing stress:

-- Take a stand against over-scheduling. If you're feeling stretched, consider cutting out an activity or two. Opt for just those that are most important to you.

-- Be realistic. Don't try to be perfect, for no one is. Expecting others to be perfect can add to your stress level, too (not to mention put a lot of pressure on them!). If you need assistance with something, don't be afraid or too proud to ask for help.

-- Get a good night's sleep. Getting enough sleep helps to keep your body and mind in top shape, making you better equipped to deal with stressors.

-- Learn to relax. The body's natural antidote to stress is called the relaxation response, and it leads to a sense of calm and well being. A person can trigger the relaxation response by learning simple breathing exercises. Building time into your schedule for activities such as reading, a hobby, or just taking a walk can help you to relax.

-- Treat your body well. Experts agree that getting regular exercise helps people to manage stress. Eat well to help your body get the fuel it needs to function at its best. Under stressful conditions, the body needs its vitamins and minerals more than ever!

-- Watch what you're thinking. Your outlook, attitude, and thoughts influence the way you see things. Is your cup half-full or half-empty? A healthy dose of optimism can help you to make the best of stressful circumstances. Even if you're out of practice, or tend to be a bit of a pessimist, everyone can learn to think more optimistically and reap the benefits.

-- Solve the little problems. Learning to solve everyday problems can give you a sense of control. But avoiding them can leave you feeling like you have little control — and that just adds to stress. Develop skills to calmly look at a problem, figure out options, and take some action toward a solution. Feeling capable of solving little problems builds the confidence to move on to life's bigger challenges. Solve little problems as they occur. That way they don't build up and overwhelm you.

-- Build Your Resilience. Ever notice that certain people seem to adapt quickly to stressful circumstances and take things in stride? They're cool under pressure and able to handle problems as they come up. Researchers have identified the qualities that make some people seem naturally resilient, even when faced with high levels of stress. If you want to build your resilience, work on developing these attitudes and behaviors:

Think of change as a challenging and normal part of life. See setbacks and problems as temporary and solvable. Believe that you will succeed if you keep working toward your goals. Take action to solve problems that crop up. Build strong relationships and keep commitments to family and friends. Have a support system and ask for help when you need it. Participate regularly in activities for relaxation and fun.

HUMAN AND SPIRITUAL VALUES

(One of the six Objects of Kiwanis)

"Principles are something different: a set of values that have to be adapted to circumstances but not compromised away."

— George Packer

HEALTHY LIVING TIP

Loving Yourself First

The rise of self-care over the past decade has brought attention to the concept of loving oneself — the basic philosophy behind it being that if we love and take care of ourselves with intention, the happier and healthier we'll be, and all the people in our lives will benefit.

Loving ourselves isn't always easy. And it doesn't mean always being overly indulgent, but rather making choices that help support our overall well-being. For some people, that may look like taking time to relax if they have a lot of stress. For others, it can be making a to-do list to organize and accomplish tasks if they tend toward procrastination. It can also mean being more self-aware and cheering ourselves on if we're often overly harsh or being more introspective and searching for ways to improve if we are myopic about our shortcomings. All these things and many more not mentioned are intentional actions we can take to be our best selves.

Take some time to reflect on the ones you love. Just make sure you don't forget about the one you should love the most.

Tip adapted from Everyday Health⁵

A new literacy project makes a big impact
Kiwanians in Kansas create Little Free Libraries
in courts. By Julie Saetre

When Melissa Bynum attended her first Kiwanis International convention in 2022, she heard a lot about the Kiwanis causes: health and nutrition, education and literacy, and youth leadership development. The "literacy" concept particularly caught her attention.

Bynum's club, the Kansas City-West Kiwanis Club in Kansas, U.S., focuses a number of projects on nutrition — from packing and providing weekend snack packs to local elementary school students to picking pears and apples from an area orchard for organizations that assist kids. While members also provide books to new moms and read at area schools, Bynum thought another ongoing literacy effort should be added to the club's project list.

Bynum remembered that a fellow member, Pat Hurrelbrink, had previously mentioned Little Free Library — a Kiwanis International partner. Bynum returned from the convention and talked with club members about where Little Free Libraries were needed in their community.

Their consensus: court buildings.

"We decided that the courthouse and municipal building were good places because that's a place where Mom and Dad don't want to go. And the kids sure as heck don't want to go with them," Bynum says. "We thought that it might be a good way to give them a book — to give them something to do, keep them occupied and possibly help endear them to reading."

Community collaboration

Kansas City, Kansas, has a unified city-county government, so the club contacted representatives about placing and maintaining Little Free Libraries at the Wyandotte County Courthouse and the Municipal Court across the site. Not only did the city-county government agree, but it also offered to buy multiple library carts — each costing several hundred U.S. dollars — to hold the books. Club members added Kiwanis signage to each cart and set about gathering new or gently used books.

"We have club members who have children and grandchildren and they're like, 'OK, time to clean out your bookshelves,'" Bynum says. "And we've put the word out to our friends and family: 'Hey, ask your kids about books they're willing to give up.'"

Pat Hurrelbrink and her husband, Dave (a former Kiwanis International trustee), searched garage sales and thrift stores, where they often found books in pristine condition. And at a surprise birthday party for Bynum, guests brought books for the libraries as gifts.

Club members put a sticker on the inside of each book to show that it was provided by the Kiwanis Club of Kansas City-West. Four Little Free Libraries now offer books in the courthouse, with another in the Municipal Court. Two club members — one a judge, the other a sheriff — monitor book supplies as they go about their daily jobs and notify the club when more books are needed.

"It's probably not an understatement to say that we've already distributed over 1,000 books, and we've maybe been doing this for only six months," says Bynum. "You know, I may never see that young person take that book. But based on the frequency with which we are replenishing those shelves, I feel like we are making an impact."
