Helping A Family Return Home

When the Delray Beach Kiwanis Club learned that a mother and her five children had to flee their home after a fire in a nearby apartment, members sprang into action. Little did the Kiwanians know at the time that they would also be helping a second Delray Beach family pay forward a good deed done by club members decades earlier.

The club, which supports organizations throughout the community - with an emphasis on those benefiting children and families - discovered that a couple of the families displaced by the blaze had children attending Orchard View Elementary School, which the club had "adopted" years before. Working with the school's principal - fellow Kiwanian Danielle Garcia - members withdrew $300 from the club treasury to buy clothing and other items for the family which was temporarily housed in a hotel. It was when the Jenkins family was able to move back into its apartment that the club reached out to the community through Facebook and email asking for donations of clothing, furniture and furnishings.

"The response was amazing," said Peggy Kelleher, the club member who helped coordinate the effort. "I received at least 50 calls and emails from people wanting to know how they could help." Club member Ezra Krieg also received phone calls and emails from people wanting to help.

While all of the contributions were well received and greatly appreciated, it was the donation from Laurie Zuniga and her husband Frank that really stood out. The Zuniga's were in the process of clearing out their daughter Jackie's nearby apartment following her death from COVID-related pneumonia a few weeks earlier when Laurie saw the Kiwanis' posting on Facebook.

History of Racial Terror in PB County

Our program on February 9th was presented by Charlene Farrington, representing the PBC Remembrance Coalition.

Palm Beach County accounts for at least two of the more than 4400 lynchings of Black citizens in the United States that were part of a regime of racial terror flourishing long after Reconstruction. One of the killings took place in Delray Beach. The legacy of this terror continues today in a resurgent white supremacist movement aimed at fomenting a "race war" that would eliminate our Black population. To address this means to confront the sins of our past and use their very gravity to combat lingering hostility.

Palm Beach County plans public events, seeking to form a consensus about confronting past and current injustices.

It was while she was on the phone with Kelleher that Zuniga discovered the same Kiwanis group had helped the struggling family in the early 1990 by paying their electric bill for several months while Jackie was recovering from a kidney transplant that had drained the family's savings. "I just couldn't believe it," Zuniga said. "I thought what a blessing and the timing couldn't have been more perfect. Now another family could have Jackie's furniture. I was thrilled because we could pay it forward through the same organization that helped us out years ago."

Early in February a small army of volunteers led by Kiwanians loaded many of the items from the apartment – including two beds, a dining room table with chairs and several other items – onto a trailer and deliver them to Elethia Jenkins and her family. "Jackie would have been thrilled to know someone else was being helped," Laurie Zuniga said.

Other donations from the community included everything from a television set and a rug to a full living room set and small appliances. The club also received gift cards for the family. "We are so grateful to everyone who helped with donation and who made it possible for the Jenkins family to be able to move back home," Kelleher said.

The Kiwanis club is still accepting donations. To find out what's needed and how you can help, visit "Contact Us" at www.delraybeachkiwanis.org or email delraykiwanis@att.net.

Thank you to all the members who helped out . A very BIG THANKS to Peggy Kelleher for spearheading this effort.

This is what Kiwanis is all about!

I want to be 14 again and ruin my life differently. I have new ideas.

In one of the more vivid acknowledgements, the county will transport a six-foot steel monument bearing the lynched men's names from the National Memorial for Peace and Justice in Montgomery, Ala.

The memorial, which opened in 2018, houses a powerful display with more than 800 rust-colored steel monuments hanging from above, one for each county in the United States where a lynching took place. The names of each lynched person in each county, totaling more than 4,400, is engraved on the markers, which appear to float above as visitors walk underneath. Carlene Laseter - Chairperson

There's a lot to love about being a Kiwanian

Puppies and babies and workouts and books are just a sampling of what Kiwanis members tell us they love right now. There's so much to love about this wonderful, diverse world, isn't there? So much to celebrate!

You probably love babies too. And puppies. (We know, we know: Not everyone loves a workout!) As you can guess, you already love a lot of things that are likely on other Kiwanians' lists as well.

We love a lot of things about Kiwanis as well. Because there's so much to love! We think Kiwanis is the best service organization in the world — and we bet you do too.

Here's a list of the top things we love about Kiwanis that we think you probably (or should) love too!

SERVICE

Let's face it: You're probably a Kiwanis member because, like us, you simply love helping others. It fuels your fire. Drives you to get up in the morning and head out to make someone's life better. Service is at the core of what you do — what we all do — to make children and families around the world happier, healthier, educated and loved.

EDUCATION

Learning is cool! At Kiwanis, we love to offer ways for Kiwanis family members to learn new things. Here are a few ways we enhance members' lives with learning experiences:

Kiwanis Amplify. A leadership program for those who want to amplify their ability to lead a team.

Key Leader. A weekend experience that empowers teens to become more caring and confident leaders.

Global Leadership Certificate. An online program for CKI and Key Club members who want to elevate their voices and build skills that will make them attractive to colleges/universities, trade schools and employers.

Conventions. From ideas for service to innovations in fundraising, you'll find it at the 2022 Kiwanis International Convention.

FELLOWSHIP

Fellowship can extend beyond your Kiwanis club. Think about all the people you've met and keep in touch with because of Kiwanis — including the people you've served or partnered with in your community.

Friendships can even extend beyond your division and your district. One great way to make friends is to attend conventions or help a Service Leadership Program member attend one. If you've been to a convention, you know that something magical happens: The world becomes smaller. A place like Nepal, for example, doesn't seem so distant or unfamiliar when you can say, "I have a friend in Nepal!"

Many things in life don't last forever. But the connections we make can last a lifetime. The service we do can improve the rest of a person's life. And the things we learn can change us for the better — forever.

These are the things we love most about Kiwanis. We bet you do too!

PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENT*Avoid Tax Season
Phone Scams

Filing season is well under way, and scammers are trying to make life miserable for everyone else. While this isn't a shocking turn for anyone who has been paying attention to the evolution of identity theft tax refund fraud, it's a problem that everyone needs to be aware of nonetheless.

The Internal Revenue Service is warning that identity thieves are posing as IRS agents in a wide range of scam phone calls. According to the agency, criminals are "posing as IRS agents in hopes of stealing taxpayer money or personal information."

How will I know if a phone call from "the IRS" is actually a scam?

Identity thieves generally try to create a sense of urgency when they contact you. Their strategy is to put you in a state of fear or anxiety through threats or by offering deals that sound too good to be true. If these criminals set the hook, you might not realize it's a scam until it's too late. That's why you must become familiar with the common types of bait in the phishing tackle box.

The IRS lists four things their agents will never do when contacting taxpayers:

1. Call to demand immediate payment using a specific payment method such as a prepaid debit card, gift card, or wire transfer. Generally, the IRS will first mail a bill to any taxpayer who owes taxes.
2. Threaten to immediately bring in local police or other law enforcement groups to have the taxpayer arrested for not paying.
3. Demand that taxes be paid without giving taxpayers the opportunity to question or appeal the amount owed.
4. Call unexpectedly about a tax refund.

While specifically cited concerning phishing calls, these tactics are also common in phishing emails and social media scams.

What should I do if I receive a tax-related scam phone call?

If you or a client receives one of these phone calls, the IRS says step one is to write down the number and hang up. Remember, some fraudsters use what you say during one of these calls to start building a profile that they refine for future scams—in other words, do not try to emulate that TED Talk. (Though watching it is admittedly a fun way to spend ten minutes!)

Next, the agency says to report the phone call to the Treasury Inspector General for Tax Administration (TIGTA) and the IRS.

That involves contacting TIGTA through their "Report a Crime or IRS Employee Misconduct" page or calling 800.366.4484, then sending an email containing the suspicious phone number—subject: "IRS Phone Scam"—to Phishing@IRS.gov.

Healing Young Children and Families

Our program on February 16th was presented by Julie Swindler, the CEO of Families First of PBC. Her discussion focused on the Child First Program.

When young children grow up in environments where there is violence, neglect, mental illness, or substance abuse, the stress can be toxic to their developing brains. But, we can intervene to prevent this damage. Scientific research demonstrates that we can make a difference if we:

Work to connect families to needed community-based services to decrease the stress, and Build strong, loving, parent-child relationships that protect and heal the brain from trauma and stress. Their goal is a young brain focused on learning rather than a brain focused on survival.

The Child First model's Theory of Change is based on scientific research which tells us that early trauma and adversity lead to biologic changes in the young child that damage the developing brain and metabolic systems, leading to long-term problems in mental health, learning, and physical health. Child First works from two directions: prevent or ameliorate this damage, and at the same time, enhance the child's development. For more information go to www.childfirst.org

The Promise Fund Saves Lives

Our program on February 23rd was presented by Karen Patti, the COO of the Promise Fund of Florida. The mission of the Promise Fund of Florida is to help women overcome financial and cultural barriers to improve health equity and reduce deaths from late-stage breast and cervical cancer throughout South Florida.

A core part of their work starts within the community. Their Navigators conduct regular, ongoing community outreach and education at health fairs, nonprofit and community events, and with faith-based groups to raise awareness of the importance of early detection screenings, and facilitates access to quality healthcare for those requiring diagnostics and treatment.

The Promise Fund partners with local and national established organizations to streamline patient care services and determine affordable pricing for low income residents who are uninsured or underinsured so they can get access to essential healthcare needs.

"Working for the Promise Fund of Florida gives me a great sense of gratitude and inspiration as I can see that the work we are doing is making a positive impact on our community" says Patti. "Because of the Promise Fund of Florida, all women have access to early detection and screening for breast and cervical cancer in our county, which is very powerful. Each and every day I am able to combine my passion for healthcare, health equity, wellness and disease prevention in the work that we do at the Promise Fund of Florida. I feel grateful and blessed to be a part of a team that is driving for positive change."

Don't Skip Breakfast

Not hungry first thing in the morning? Pushed for time? Trying to lose weight? There are many calorie-counted treats that will tempt you to rediscover the pleasure of breakfast. From energy-boosting "apple pie" porridge and protein-packed scrambled eggs, to a nutrient-rich green smoothie and granola bars, there's something for everyone.

"Creating the habit of eating in the morning is something you can build towards," says dietitian Alison Hornby. "Start off with a light bite, such as a piece of fruit or a low-fat yoghurt. "After a while, your morning appetite will naturally increase and you'll probably find you eat less throughout the day, including snacks."

Research suggests people who eat breakfast are slimmer because they tend to eat less during the day, especially high-calorie snacks. If you're short on time in the morning, think about ways of gaining time by keeping your breakfast choice simple, either by waking up 10 minutes earlier or getting other chores out of the way ahead of time.

The "Golden" Years ...

--- I've had two bypass surgeries, a hip replacement, new knees, fought prostate cancer and diabetes. I'm half blind, can't hear anything quieter than a jet engine, take 40 different medications that make me dizzy, winded, and subject to blackouts. Have bouts with dementia. Have poor circulation; hardly feel my hands and feet anymore. Can't remember if I'm 85 or 92. Have lost all my friends.

But, thank God, I still have my driver's license.

--- I feel like my body has gotten totally out of shape, so I got my doctor's permission to join a fitness club and start exercising. I decided to take an aerobics class for seniors. I bent, twisted, gyrated, jumped up and down, and perspired for an hour. But, by the time I got my leotards on, the class was over.

--- My memory's not as sharp as it used to be. Also, my memory's not as sharp as it used to be.

--- Know how to prevent sagging? Just eat till the wrinkles fill out.

--- It's scary when you start making the same noises as your coffee maker.

--- These days about half the stuff in my shopping cart says, 'For fast relief.'

--- THE SENILITY PRAYER:

Grant me the senility to forget the people I never liked anyway, the good fortune to run into the ones I do, and the eyesight to tell the difference.

Executive Perspective

by Stan D. Soderstrom, Executive Director of Kiwanis and the Kiwanis Children's Fund.

If you've been a Kiwanis member for more than a year, you may have noticed that we celebrate the birthday of the first Kiwanis club every January.

In fact, January 21, 1915, is the date on which the state of Michigan granted the organizational charter to the Detroit Number 1 Kiwanis club.

At the time, the world was engaged in The Great War (what we now call World War I). Within three years, a worldwide influenza pandemic infected and killed millions. Disagreements raged over masking, schools, business closures and restricted travel. Sound familiar? Today, nations are still fighting other nations, and a global pandemic continues.

But Kiwanis still exists. That's worth celebrating. Among all the events that divide and threaten, we're here, year after year, to make a positive difference for kids growing up in a troubled world.

In 2022, I hope you'll remember other dates — such as March 23, 1925, when 10 students at Sacramento High School in California signed their names to an agreement to "constitute the nucleus" of the first Key Club. Or September 25, 1947, when 27 students at Carthage College in Illinois formed the first Circle K club.

Dates like these matter for all the Kiwanis Leadership Programs — and for individual Kiwanis family clubs. Whether it's your own club or an SLP you sponsor, mark the date. Celebrate. And reach out to congratulate fellow Kiwanis clubs when you learn about their anniversaries. After all, each one represents a moment when a new opportunity for Kiwanis service and leadership became a reality in a world that needed it.
