PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENT

Drunk Driving

Six Sobering Facts

Did you know that...?

- Drunk driving is the most frequently committed crime in the United States.
- About 30 percent of all Americans will be involved in an alcohol-related car crash during their lifetime.
- More than 40 percent of all fatal auto accidents are alcohol-related.
- An alcohol-related crash kills one person every 31 minutes and injures one person every two minutes.
- Auto accidents are the greatest single cause of death for young people between the ages of six and 27. Almost half of these accidents involve alcohol.
- Your chance of being involved in a drunk-driving accident increases dramatically with every two beers you drink. Have a six pack and your chances of being in a drunk-driving accident are 44 percent.
- 1,700 college students die each year from alcohol-related accidents, including car crashes.
- Approximately 600,000 college students are injured under the influence of alcohol, many of which are automobile-related.

How much does DUI cost?

Beyond lost lives and painful injuries, alcohol-related crashes in the United States cost federal and local governments and taxpayers approximately $51 billion each year. (Blincoe et al., 2002)

Of course, a single DUI won't cost you anywhere near that much. But getting caught driving under the influence can be an expensive. Costs vary state by state, but you could spend about $4,000-$5,000 on fines, impound fees, a DUI treatment program, insurance increases and other things—and that's before you hire a lawyer. Lawyers will cost another $10,000 or so.

Some Legal consequences of a first DUI arrest and conviction are:

- Your license will be suspended for a period of time.
- You may have to participate in a treatment program.
- You may even have to spend a weekend in jail.

- Both are essential to life.
- Happiness keeps you Sweet,
- Trials keep you Strong, •
- Sorrows keep you Human,

"Old" is When...

... when you see expensive antiques and you remember one just like it that you threw away.

... when eating right and exercising means you're going die anyway.

... when you live each day as it was your last. You'll get it right someday.

Dietary Supplements

The Dietary Supplement Health and Education Act (DSHEA) defines a dietary supplement as a product that: supplements the food you eat; contains one or more dietary ingredient (including vitamins; minerals; herbs or other botanicals; amino acids, and other substances); comes in pill, capsule, tablet, or liquid form; and is labeled as a dietary supplement.

There are different types of dietary, or nutritional, supplements. Vitamin and mineral supplements are types of dietary supplements containing micronutrients meant to help a body function smoothly and improve mental health. Herbal (or botanical) supplements are dietary supplements that have a medicinal purpose. Herbal supplements generally support a specific area of the body's health, such as the liver, bones or skin.

Vitamins and minerals are micronutrients that serve a specific purpose and benefit the body in a unique way. For example, vitamin A supports vision and bone growth, whereas vitamin E strengthens the immune system and helps repair DNA. Vitamin and mineral deficiency can impair the body's ability to heal and protect itself. Micronutrients can also have an effect on mental health. Studies in New Zealand have shown that using micronutrients in appropriate doses can help treat depression, anxiety, stress, bipolar disorder, ADHD, autism, and PTSD and trauma.

Taking micronutrient supplements won't make up for an unhealthy diet, though. The basis of healthy eating should always be a diet rich in fresh fruits, vegetables, whole grains, healthy fats, fish and low in processed, fried, sugary, and refined foods. However, some people may benefit from extra nutrients found in a supplement. A general multivitamin and mineral supplement can also be a good safeguard against periodic nutrient shortfalls in your diet.

Here Comes "Little Johnny"

One day at the end of class, little Johnny's teacher asks the class to go home and think of a story to be concluded with the moral of that story.

The following day the teacher asks for the first volunteer to tell their story.

Little Suzy raises her hand. "My dad owns a farm and every Sunday we load the chicken eggs on the truck and drive into town to sell them at the market. Well, one Sunday we hit a big bump and all the eggs flew out of the basket and onto the road." When the teacher asked for the moral of the story, Suzy replied, "Don't keep all your eggs in one basket."

Little Lucy went next. "My dad owns a farm too. Every weekend we take the chicken eggs and put them in the incubator. Last weekend only eight of the 12 eggs hatched."; Again, the teacher asked for the moral of the story. Lucy replied, "Don't count your chickens before they hatch."

Next up was little Johnny. "My uncle Ted fought in the Vietnam war, and his plane was shot down over enemy territory. He jumped out before it crashed but could only take a case of beer, a machine gun and a machete. On the way down, he drank the case of beer. Then he landed right in the middle of 100 Vietnamese soldiers. He shot 70 with his machine gun, but then he ran out of bullets! So he pulled out his machete and killed 20 more. Then the blade on his machete broke, so he killed the last ten with his bare hands." The teacher looked a little shocked. After clearing her throat, she asked what possible moral there could be to this story.

"Well," Johnny replied, "Don't f*** with Uncle Ted when he's been drinking."

WHO WILL YOU INVITE TO KIWANIS TODAY?

Ever since I was a little girl I've dreamed of a world where every child was happy, healthy, safe and loved. My parents taught my sisters and me the importance of giving back to the community. I found it was a way to leave my own positive handprints on my world.

Nearly 25 years ago, I was working at a hospital 60 miles away from my home. I struggled for a way to know the community, as I was only there during the workday. One day, a man walked into my office, introduced himself as Dean Clark and asked me two questions: Do you like children? Do you like this community? Yes, I answered. Then he asked me to join him for lunch with the Fort Dodge, Iowa, Kiwanis Club, promising a way to get to know my new community. My dad was a Kiwanian, so I said yes.

That decision changed my life in more positive ways than I can count. Dean invited me into a new legacy of service: the Kiwanis family who shares my dream to improve the world one child and one community at a time.

That global family will continue to expand. Through the work of The Formula— our membership initiative to strengthen existing clubs and open new ones—I often think of Dean Clark. He was the best Formula person I ever met. He introduced me to Kiwanis, to leadership beyond my professional world and to service of a very special kind. He became my coach, my mentor and my close friend. He taught me to be a good member, an effective officer and to invite others to join us in our daily quest to serve others. We went together on calls once a month to invite people to meetings. He taught me to keep our club robust, effective and fun. He called me regularly to ask, "Who will you invite to Kiwanis today?"

As we begin our 2016-17 administrative year, let's become more like Dean. Let's invite others to join us in this most amazing Kiwanis organization, to energize the dream—that every child is happy, healthy, safe and loved.

Who will you invite to Kiwanis today?
