Happy/Sad Bucks:

Loren Suezle is happy that his old bank F&M donated $1000 to the Modesto USA Graffitti Car Museum. And a sad buck that even with Covid restrictions he was still called to the dentist.

PO Box 473, Modesto, CA 95353 website: NorthModestoKiwanis.org

Tim Ragsdale had a sad buck as he got all set for a bike ride, put on his cycling shorts and Lycra and helmet then went out to his back yard for the bike only to find it had been stolen. A discussion ensued about whether Tim's replacement bike would be an electric assist but Tim assured us that he rode for the exercise so that would be senseless.

Kevin Scott was happy that the grandkids came home and a sad buck that the 'Castle in Calistoga' was burned and may have to be demolished.

Program:

Our eagerly awaited program was Randy Siefkin retired MJC political science prof, with his always-humorous political predictions.

Randy's title "How to predict the election without having to pay attention".

Randy's political experiences include putting out anti Truman posters, ice cream for Eisenhower events, field rep for Nixon in 1962, Rockerfeller 1964, Cahir of the republican central committee when Nixon resigned and supporting Gerald Ford in 1976..

Abe Lincoln was reported to be messaging from the grave "It's my party and I'll cry if I want to".

Randy noted that predictions by Political scientists are better than those by chimps.

Biden currently has a lead in the polls that he has held for the last two months. A site '538' aggregates the better polls to give what may be the most credible numbers.

This is a watershed election:

Illinois. New Mexico used to be bellweather states.

Ohio needs to be won by republicans.

Stock market up favors the incumbents.

Biden has a 65% chance of winning overall.

Betting sites show trump at a 37% chance of winning.

Respected pol sci Alan Lickman predicted Trump in 2016, predicts Biden in 2020.

Economist magazine, very well respected, gives Biden a 95% chance of victory.

Site 538 gives Trump a 12% chance of a win.

Hemline used to be a predictor but now everyone wears pants, so it is now an N/A.

If the Napa wine vintage is poor it predicts Rep, if good Dem. This year is predicted to be smoky and poor so predicts Reps.

World series victory by Dodgers, in the National League suggests Dems.

Largest last name usually wins: This time a tie.

Oscar winning film 'Parasite' with not a happy ending suggests the incumbent wins.

Covid took away the Halloween candy and coffee cup sales predictors.

We have had 57 presidential elections with 49 having widespread popular voting and 16 with substantial economic data so that is the extent of our experience.

Randy first voted in 1964. He has a collection of election buttons but they don't seem to be a popular item in current elections.

To sum up, Randy is sure that some predictors will be wrong! May the best man win. Past elections have been quite nasty at times, but we got though it so in spite of current acrimony there is still hope for us now in 2020.

When will the results be finally declared? Maybe Nov 17.

Upcoming Programs:

Nov. 5 – Report from board meeting

Nov. 12 -- Karen Williams, Executive Director of Learning Quest: "How a Non-Profit Adult Literacy Program Survives and Thrives in a Pandemic"

Nov. 19 -- Donna Linder, Stanislaus County Registrar of Voters, returns for "An Election Postmortem."

Nov. 26 -- No program - Thanksgiving
