PROGRAM

Opera Modesto.

Roy Stevens from Opera Modesto. He and his wife Ana Liese jointly run Opera Modesto and are frequent guests.

Roy grew up in Modesto and was Valedictorian of a class of 7 from Paradise elementary ,

At Modesto High he was academically inclined in science subjects and thought it would be crazy to be an artist.

But he went into the arts. Has 4 sisters who got him into the performing arts by making him dress up and perform.

At the age of 18 got a 50 dollar scholarship that got him to take voice lessons which blossomed into a career. Changed his life. Became an international opera singer.

NORTH MODESTO

Inadvertently became leaders of Modesto Opera Company.

Modesto has symphony, ballet and opera. Only city in eastern CA with all three.

In the arts we have a golden age occurring in Modesto. Many great figures in arts have come from here. Roy emphasized that this is world class community.

The opera presents at Gallo center for the arts

Gala concert in the spring of 2023 will be their 40 year celebration.

Pop favorites are what the audiences want but the company can play new material if they call it an educational program and they always get great support for those.

Young local artists create fabulous backdrops. Dancers for Central West Ballet participate. International stars come. During Covid did recorded concerts at Gallo Center. Received awards for these productions.

During Covid their Summer opera institute for teens continued with 394 zoom sessions in 8 days.

They filmed a 'Green screened' concert.

Produced the film and story book 'The Race' based on Aesop's fables. Won awards.

Roy then introduced Lola Fletcher one of the singers.

Lola has been with the opera for 5 years. Reluctant to join but then became enthusiastic.

Has done Carmen, Magic flute and La Boheme.

In the 'Around the World' concert she sings a Hungarian song in honor of her great grandfather from Hungary. Lola then did a wonderful rendition of this Hungarian Song with accompaniment by Margaret Zabel on piano.

Roy reminded us that they need support for their work with teens. They charge a $200 tuition but it costs $1000 to put on the course.
