Kentucky-Tennessee District of Kiwanis

GOVERNOR DWIGHT WATT

Hello KT Kiwanians!

As we approach the end of the 2022-2023 Kiwanis year, we have an opportunity to look back at the past year and look forward to the coming year.

It has been a great year for the Kentucky-Tennessee District of Kiwanis. We have experienced growth appropriate for this point in the year; we have added two new clubs (welcome to Henry County, Kentucky and London, Kentucky). We were responsible for many service projects, doing our part to improve lives in our communities and in the world. During our 2023 convention we packed 25,000 bags of rice that will provide meals for many Lexington area people in need of food. It is a year we can look back on with pride.

It has been my pleasure and also fun (fun most of the time) to serve as your governor. We had some lower spots and lost some people important to our organization, but we celebrated the lives they lived. As your governor I had the chance to visit many places and see many sights (as well as sites). I had the opportunity to meet many of you and to join many of you in various service projects. I ran the first 5K I had run in several years. You gave me the chance to carry the Olympic Torch for the second time as I came to Mid-Year.

As we finish the year let's keep our numbers positive and lead our clubs into even greater years in the future. I put 46,000 miles on my Saturn in the last year (about average for me) and it now has 908,800 miles on it. I still have several club visit trips I plan to make this month, and as immediate past governor I look forward to visiting many of your clubs in the coming year, helping with service projects and other events. Let me know when and where you can use me to help you do more work for the children.

I am not slowing down, just shifting positions. I will still be your webmaster and secretary of your district foundation.

Keep on working to Improve the lives of children throughout the world and in our communities one child at a time. We Kiwanians can and do work wonders

With pride in all of you,

Dwight

FROM THE EDITOR

Don Ritter

Since 2016 it has been my privilege to serve you as Editor of your KT Notes. This will be my final issue. During these past seven years YOU, Vivian and I have worked as a team. I have enjoyed hearing from you and learning what you were doing in your clubs and divisions. Thank you for all the articles and pictures you have submitted, and thank you for your patience when I have made errors. . As you can see below, the next KT Notes editor will be Sasha Bush. I'm sure Sasha will bring new and refreshing ideas to your newsletter, and I wish her the best.

Due to my absence from the KT Convention, a couple of Kiwanians who attended were asked if they minded taking pictures for the KT Notes. I may not have a complete list of those who assisted me but those who I do know submitted pictures are Pete Davis, Glen Kleine and Jim Mann. I am especially appreciative of Glen's efforts and hard work; he took dozens of pictures and wrote extensive captions to go with them. Thanks very much to each and every one of you.

JUST FOR LAUGHS

Two little boys, Tom and Danny, were excessively mischievous. They were always getting into trouble and their Mom knew if any mischief occurred in their town, the two boys were probably involved.

The boys' mother heard that a preacher in town had been successful in disciplining children, so she asked if he would speak with her boys. The preacher agreed, but he asked to see them individually.

The mother sent Danny in the morning, and the older boy was to see the preacher in the afternoon. The preacher, a huge man with a deep booming voice, sat the younger boy down and asked him sternly, "Do you know where God is, son?"

The boy's mouth dropped open, but he made no response, as he sat there wide-eyed with his mouth hanging open. So the preacher repeated the question in an even sterner tone, "Where is God?!"

Again, the boy made no attempt to answer.

The preacher raised his voice even more and shook his finger in the boy's face and bellowed, "WHERE IS GOD?!"

The boy screamed, bolted from the room and ran directly home diving into his closet, slamming the door behind him. When his older brother found him in the closet, he asked, "What happened?"

The younger brother, gasping for breath, replied, "We are in BIG trouble this time!" "GOD is missing, and they think WE did it!"

MEMBER SPOTLIGHT ON

C. David Elliott

Except for his university attendance and active duty with the United States Army, C. David Elliott has lived his entire life in Clarksville, Tennessee; he lives one block from where he was born and raised. He is a member of the Hilldale Kiwanis Club of Clarksville and as you are about to learn, because of his life as a Kiwanian, he could easily be considered by many as one of those people who deserves the title, “Mr. Kiwanis.”

He came from a close but small family. C. David’s father owned an independent retail electronic appliance store and his mother was a homemaker. He has one sister, Phyllis Hunt, who is a retired elementary physical education teacher and who also lives in Clarksville. Sadly, C. David’s wife, Susan, who was a home economist passed away in 2016. He has two grown sons – one a plant manager in Memphis and the other a finance investment accountant analyst in New York City. They have given C. David five grandchildren – all are now adults.

He attended elementary, middle and high school in Clarksville. In high school C. David was in the chorus and he was on the high school student council. He ran for student body president, but he lost to his best friend. During his years in high school, C.

David was active in his church and was a member of the National Council of Churches and of the United Christian Youth movement.

Deciding on going to college, C. David knew two things. One, he wanted to attend an institution of higher education away from Clarksville – that eliminated Austin Peay. Two, because of advice from a high school counselor during his junior year, he was intent on being an engineer. He enrolled in a summer camp at Northwestern University for students who were going to be engineers. That turned out to be a life-changing experience as he quickly found out that engineering was not his strength. He was advised by the engineers at that camp that he should not plan on being an engineer (suggesting business might be a wiser course of study), and the challenges of the topics in the camp led him to believe that they gave him the correct advice.

Checking out the Tennessee universities, he found that the University of Tennessee-Knoxville had an excellent business school. Acquiring that information, he made his choice and, as it turned out, his future wife (Susan) also chose the University of Tennessee-Knoxville. Although they knew each other in high school they did not date until their sophomore year in college. She did not major in business; she chose a major that prepared her to be a home economist. He majored in business administration and marketing. As a university student C. David chose not to pledge any fraternities. Instead he joined and was a very active member of the Independent Student Association. A successful student in college, in 1962 he graduated with a Bachelor of Science degree.

Two especially important things occurred in C. David’s life as he completed his college education. First, he joined the United States Army Reserves for a six-year enlistment. Six-year reservists were required to go on active duty for six months and C. David’s active duty time coincided with the Cuban Missile Crisis in 1962 – it was a tense time in the world and an especially tense time for those in the military. The second important happening was his wedding. He and Susan had become engaged and upon his release from active duty they were married in Clarksville. It was a marriage that would last 53 years.

C. David Elliott Continued

C. David and Susan decided to make their residence in Clarksville where she was offered a position as Home Economist with the Rural Electric Service. He had job offers from two Clarksville businesses, each having equal benefits, but he followed some good advice (his Dad's) and went to work in the family business. He stayed with the family business for 18 years until it closed in 1981. With that closing, Susan and David acquired an insurance agency, a business they maintained for the next 31 years until his retirement. David and his sister, Phyllis, still own and manage a three-building office campus in downtown Clarksville where the business was located.

In 1968, C. David was invited by a close friend to join Kiwanis and to become a charter member of the Hilldale club. However, because of a perceived heavy schedule in the retail business and his new growing family, he had to delay acceptance of that invitation. Becoming a charter member of the Hilldale club was not to be. Six months later the invitation was extended again and that time, C. David accepted membership in the Hilldale club.

The enthusiasm we now see in this man was apparent from the very beginning. As a Kiwanian he served his Kiwanis club as president three times and for two of those terms his leadership resulted in the Hilldale club being designated as a "Distinguished Club." During his Kiwanis years he has sponsored several dozen new members. He was chairperson of one of the club's major successful fundraising projects for several years. As a result of his inspiration and his efforts he has earned recognition from the Hilldale club as "Kiwanian of the Year" three times.

His record with the Hilldale club was recognized by Division 14 Kiwanians and C. David was elected lieutenant governor of the Division; he earned a Distinguished Lieutenant Governor Award. Being lieutenant governor, he was expanding his Kiwanis involvement in the KT District. Resulting from his interest in inter-clubbing, he eventually became KT District interclub chair – a position in which he currently continues to serve. He expanded his involvement even more when he accepted an appointment to the Kiwanis International Partner Project Team.

This active Kiwanian maintains Clarksville Kiwanis history. He preserves that history in a room in one of his buildings where he keeps and shares an impressive collection of Kiwanis memorabilia.

C. David likes to travel both in the United States and overseas. Many of his travel trips have taken him to KT District Conventions, Midyear Conferences and events, and to Kiwanis International Conventions across the United States and around the world.

He is a participant in the life of his community. The church is an important part of that life. He has been involved in his church as a deacon and elder, and he taught a confirmation class for 26 years. He is also a member of the Clarksville Historical Society and Customs House Museum.

C. David has an interesting hobby. He is an enthusiastic model train enthusiast who maintains model train exhibits and assists with a number of model train museums – two of them are in Clarksville.

Asked to what he owed his success in Kiwanis and in business, without hesitation, his response was: "I like people." To observe and know C. David is to know how true this is. His fellow Kiwanians and the people of his community understand it and in turn, they like him.

Reflecting on the accomplishments of Kiwanis in his community, he revealed that an impressive number of young people are brought in to the Kiwanis family through Clarksville Kiwanis club SLP sponsorships of Circle K, Key Clubs, Builders Clubs, K-Kids, Key Leader, BUG Programs and Terrific Kids. He would be the first to tell us that these programs do not exist because of him, but we will tell you that we believe his Kiwanis leadership in bringing these programs into existence is profound. He said he feels he has had a very happy and blessed life, and we think we all should feel happy and blessed to know C. David Elliott.

THE CONVENTION

The August 2023 Kentucky-Tennessee District of Kiwanis Convention in Lexington, Kentucky was attended by 139 Kiwanians and 12 guests. Many excellent pictures were provided by some hard-working photographers (see their names in "From the Editor" above), but the limited computer space available for electronic on-line mailing made it impossible to use so many of them I would have preferred to use. What follows is a selection of some of those photographs.

The Kentucky-Tennessee Lieutenant Governors Association elected Kevin Zachary as 2023-2024 president, and he is seen here with fellow officers Secretary Lynn Hutchinson and Treasurer P.R. Cook.

THE CONVENTION

Scout Troop 110 and 112 posted the colors to begin the Friday evening opening session.

Matthew Bradford, a decorated double amputee and blind Marine, injured while serving his country, was the Key Note Speaker for the Friday evening opening session.

THE CONVENTION

There were several helpful workshops. One was a class on CPR designed to help participants learn how to save a life.

To raise funds for the KT Foundation a Golf Contest was featured in which participants used their golfing skills in attempts to win prizes.

THE CONVENTION

It would appear that winning a prize creates excitement for some folks. This lady won the last prize at the last KT session.

Many interesting things appeared in the Silent Auction including this Georgia Bulldog.

There were two convention projects. One involved preparation of 25,000 meal packets for men and women who will be given assistance by Hope Center in Lexington.

THE CONVENTION

The Governor's Celebration was entertained with toe tapping Big Band music performed by this orchestra made up of mature folks, musicians whose average age was 80, who call themselves "The Young at Heart."

Sharyn Mitchell and Mary Calie (Berea, Kentucky Kiwanis Club) were two of the many Kiwanians who served in the House of Delegates, and they appeared to be happy to be there.

The PATH project involved preparing 85 Diaper Bags of appropriate items for mothers. These are mothers with addiction problems who often leave the hospital with nothing.

THE CONVENTION

The KT District leaders for 2023-2024 are Jim Gazay (Governor), Fran Marion (District Secretary), Dwight Watt (Immediate Past Governor), and Claire Crouch (Governor-Elect). Second from right is Lynn Hutchinson, the 2022-2023 Immediate Past Governor who installed each of these officers.

Larry Dobson was elected 2023-2024 Vice Governor but was not present to pose with his fellow officers. Larry's mother had just passed away and he could not attend the convention.

District Secretary Fran Marion saluted the House of Delegates that re-elected her to continue in that position. Lynn Hutchinson decided to un-install Fran and then re-install her as KT District Secretary. She has faithfully served as secretary of the KT District for many years.

THE CONVENTION

Governor Dwight was presented with a plaque given in appreciation of his great service as 2022-2023 Governor of the KT District.

Immediate Past Governor Lynn Hutchinson present the governor's pin to Jim Gazay, who will be the 2023-2024 KT District Governor.

Forty Kwanians from the Kentucky-Tennessee District passed away during the 2022-2023 administrative year and they were remembered during the Sunday morning Memorial Service. JONI'S PLAYGROUND

Submitted by Glen Kleine

The family of our friend, the late Joan Kleine was recently honored with a cooperative project sponsored by the Kiwanis Club of Richmond (Kentucky) and the city of Richmond. Here is a picture of that beautiful playground. Her many outstanding contributions to the club, service for youth and the city were remembered with this beautiful place where children will be able to play, the playground will be appropriately named, Joni's Playground.

BOWLING GREEN CELEBRATES NUMBER 100

Picture submitted by Dale Wiley

The Kiwanis Club of Bowling Green (Kentucky) was chartered July 24, 1923. This past July 15 Kiwanians and friends met at the Corvette Museum in Bowling Green to celebrate 100 years of Kiwanis service to children and to Bowling Green and Warren County. This picture shows the many folks who gathered to honor that great occasion and it includes the club's oldest member, 101-year-old Hayward Minton who has perfect attendance from the date he joined the club in March, 1960.

PROVIDING CLOTHES FOR THE FIRST DAY OF SCHOOL

Submitted by Angela Antico

On July 27, 2023 the Tellico Village Kiwanis Club conducted its 18th annual Back-to-School Clothing Program at the Lenoir City Wal-Mart. We are especially indebted to our corporate sponsor, Malibu Boats, for continued support of the event.

Held in collaboration with the Family Resource Centers of the Lenoir City and Loudon County schools, 59 young students received gift certificates to shop for new clothes for the upcoming school year.

Kiwanians Jerry and Laura Wrubel, co-chaired this program. In attendance were representatives from Lenoir City and Loudon County Schools, Malibu Boats, and Tellico Village Kiwanis members. Wal-Mart Store Manager Laurie Babb and her staff were, again, invaluable in making the event run smoothly.

The program is intended to make that very special first day of school even more special for the children. The excitement of the children was infectious. A perfect day for sure.
