

MEMORIAL WALL OF HONOR

Al Paulsen

He was born on January 13, 1955 in Wichita, Kansas, to James and Marilyn Paulsen and is the fourth of five brothers. He leaves behind his beloved wife, Kristie; daughter, Jenny and her husband, (and his buddy) Jeff; as well as three beautiful grandchildren, Finley, Tommi and Makena. In addition, as a dog lover, he leaves four Border Collies, Jake, Ruby, Abby and his new puppy, Larry.

Al adored his father, James (JP), who was employed by Boeing, requiring the family to move frequently around the country while he was growing up. Some of his favorite stops included: Turkey Ridge, South Dakota, where his dad owned a small store, Lewiston, Montana, Santa Maria, California, Chicago, Illinois, and many places in the state of Washington. When Al was 18, he hitchhiked around the country for three years. On his way through Grants Pass, he decided that was where he wanted to live. Al had a million stories that he was always happy to share about his lifetime of adventures. He made two trips to Australia, where he made friends with many carpet cleaning buddies. During those trips on his motorcycle, he drove around the continent one way and on a second trip drove around the other way.

In 1977, Al was living in a former potato chip truck when he decided it was time to start his own business. With a bucket in one hand and a squeegee in the other, he launched Al's Window Cleaning. He used to joke that accounts receivable was his right pocket and accounts payable his left pocket. Once he decided to take his business seriously, he enrolled in the Rogue Community College Small Business Development Center and completed all of the necessary course work for successful graduation.

Throughout the past 42 years, he has credited his instructors with his mastery of running a successful business. In 1982, Al grew the business in Southern Oregon to include carpet cleaning and, eventually, in 1993, became Al's Carpet Cleaning and Restoration, specializing in emergency fire, water and smoke damage and mold remediation. In 1989, Al became an active member of the Grants Pass Kiwanis Club. Initially, he was extremely nervous about public speaking, but in 2001 he accepted the nomination to become Club President as a means to move beyond this fear, and became an eloquent speaker.

Some of the many awards and certifications he has received include: General Contractor licensed in Fire and Water Damage; Ahera Certified Asbestos Inspector; 2008 "Kiwanian of the Year" Grants Pass Kiwanis Oliver Oaks Award; "Gold" G P Kiwanis Biz for Kids Sponsor; 2001 Best Residential/Owner Homebuilder of the Year.

Al loved going on motorhome trips with Kristie to wine country and the coast. He also loved going to Maui every year where he would sit by the pool and make friends with everyone.

Harry G. Carmichael was born February 12, 1921 in Sacramento, California. He grew up in the San Francisco Bay area, graduating from Berkeley High School in 1939. and even had at least two of them copyrighted. In 1947 Harry threw everything he owned in the back of his jalopy and drove north on Highway 101. He stopped at every small-town radio station he could find looking for a job and finally found one as a news man at KUIN in Grants Pass. (KUIN later became KAGI) In October of 1948 Harry married Dorothy Jean Detrick in Grants Pass. He met her in the Josephine County Clerk's office where she worked. Together they had five children over the next thirteen years. He moved his family away from Grants Pass in 1956, to Lakeview, Oregon, first and then a succession of towns in Oregon and California before finally moving back to Grants Pass for good in the summer of 1968. His family doesn't remember when he wasn't a Kiwanian. He joined his final club in 1969. He served as the Grants Pass Kiwanis Club President in 1977 and annually led many of the club's projects including "Bring your Pastor Day" (if you didn't have one, Harry would find you one) and "Campus Life Easter Breakfast" at Grants Pass High School. As a sportscaster Harry had the distinction of broadcasting the first and last games that Mel Ingram coached at Grants Pass High School. To say he really enjoyed the University of Oregon Ducks would be a big understatement. He attended nearly all home football games, some away games and the occasional basketball game. From Dick's final resting place, he will never miss a Duck Home Football Game. He was also a big fan of jazz music and enjoyed something from his large collection daily.

Dick and Bev, who were married 53 years, seldom missed a Kiwanis Event and few could keep pace with "Dickie". Dick Hall did not invent the "See-Thru", that spirituous stroke of genius he attributes to his friend "Bubba". Dick Hall did, however, put See-Thrus on the PNW Map and as the tradition goes, once the olive is eaten from the vodka/water combo, the drinker is finished. He was a devoted Kiwanian and equally devoted to his friends. He once, at his own expense, provided for 30 College Dreams participants to attend a University of Oregon Football Game. The Dick Hall Youth Services Award was instituted in 2002 to annually recognize the outstanding College Dreamer. Allan Coon recalls one time Manhart described forcibly delivering a calf using both arms, a lively and memorable story.
