I am so excited to welcome you to MidYear! Today is THE DAY for our Kiwanis family to come together for leadership development, vision planning, inspiration, and fellowship.

We have been busy as bees developing workshops which will ignite your passion for service and inspire you to "Spread Your Wings and Take Flight!"

At this conference, you will meet Kiwanians from all over our district, interact with program leaders, exchange ideas, learn innovative ways your club can serve the children of your community and HAVE FUN!

During our fellowship luncheon, we will hold an awards ceremony and induct FOUR AMAZING KIWANIANs into our Ohio District Hall of Fame. Like the Oscars, only the selection committee knows who the recipients are. We look forward to sharing this very special moment with our inductees.

You will also hear all about my pollinator project, Bee A Hero. Our keynote speaker, Tracy Teuscher, the founder of "Save Ohio Bees" will deliver a presentation on native bees of Ohio and discuss effective strategies to mitigate the threats they encounter.

Be sure to visit our interactive exhibitor's hall which will feature Service Leadership Programs, Ohio District Kiwanis Foundation, Ohio Kiwanis History, District Convention, International Convention, Bee A Hero, Kiwanis Children's Fund and more!

Our MidYear Education Day committee, led by Susan Black, has put together an impactful day which is sure to BEE amazing!

Thank you all!

Kelly Brown

District Governor 2024-2025

Dear Fellow Kiwanians,

Welcome to the 2025 Mid-Year Education Day at Quest Conference Center! We're delighted that you have chosen to spend the day with us learning how to strengthen your club and the great Ohio District!

We have worked hard to put together business, plenary, and educational sessions to uplift and inspire you. Whether you have come seeking ways to attract and retain new diverse members, improve relationships with your SLPs, increase fundraising income, get a new service project idea, or learn more about Governor Kelly's project, you are in the right place!

Use every bit of your time to soak up what you can, all while meeting and enjoying the fellowship of other like-minded Kiwanians. We're glad you're here! Now spread your wings and take flight!

Sincerely,

Susan Black

SAVE OHIO BEES

One in four native bee species face the threat of extinction and 40 percent of insect pollinators globally are threatened, including many native bees that are essential for US crop and wildflower pollination. In Ohio alone, there are nearly 500 species of native bees.

Our mission is to restore pollinator habitat, fund conservation, and provide educational resources and programming to the community. Our vision is to empower Ohioans to restore native plants and trees where they live, work, and play, and eliminate pesticide use in homes and gardens.

GOVERNOR'S PROJECT

Ohio Kiwanis District Governor, Kelly Brown, is inspiring community pollinator habitat projects in collaboration with Save Ohio Bees. Save Ohio Bees is grateful to be a source of informational resources for 5,500 adult Kiwanis members and 10,000 student leaders to create and enhance community pollinator habitats.

These efforts highlight the interdependence of human and ecological health, and the importance of regional collaboration and local action.

Native plants and trees are essential to support native bees, regional biodiversity, and ecosystem health.
