Dive into Brantford's Fascinating Water Story!

Join us for an engaging lunch meeting featuring Franklyn Smith of the Brant Historical Society, who will take us on a journey through the history of water in Brantford.

Discover how our rivers, waterways, and water systems shaped the growth of our community, influenced local industry, and impacted everyday life throughout Brantford's history. Franklyn's wealth of knowledge and passion for local history promise a presentation filled with fascinating stories, surprising facts, and a fresh appreciation for one of our city's most valuable resources.

Whether you're a history enthusiast, a lifelong Brantford resident, or simply curious about the community we call home, this is a presentation you won't want to miss.

Come for a great lunch, enjoy good company, and leave with a deeper understanding of the role water has played in shaping Brantford.

KIWANIS EDUCATION

During the Great Depression, many Kiwanis clubs shifted their focus from civic improvement projects to providing food, clothing, and direct assistance to struggling families. That adaptability established a tradition of responding to communities' most pressing needs—a hallmark of Kiwanis service that continues today.
